HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM LAST YEAR AND WHAT AFFECTED ITS PERFORMANCE?

Over the past 12 months ending June 30, 2024, international equity markets have fluctuated between optimism and concerns over recession and inflation. However, as fears of a downturn have recently eased, a more favorable environment has emerged, with central banks now considering potential interest rate cuts. Despite ongoing conflicts in Europe and the Middle East, the overall outlook has brightened. At Hood River, we believe that in any market environment, it is possible to seek to identify companies that can outperform expectations and grow earnings. This conviction has proven successful, with our Fund outpacing the MSCI All Country World ex USA Small-Cap Index for the 12 months ending June 30, 2024.

Our approach emphasizes bottom-up portfolio construction while also capitalizing on key market trends. Resilient global consumer spending and a thriving small-cap IPO market outside the U.S. have been particularly beneficial. We've placed a strong emphasis on companies driving advancements in artificial intelligence (AI) and nuclear energy, which has significantly contributed to our success, especially in the information technology sector. Emerging markets, including Taiwan, have proven contributory to outperformance, while we continue to navigate the complexities of international markets with a focus on sustainable earnings growth. Overall, our proactive approach and strategic focus have enabled us to deliver strong performance for our investors during the period.
